A FEW FAST STEPPING HORSES.

WILL MAKE AND BREAK RECORDS.

The Animals to be Seen at the Fair Grounds, Under the Care of Trainer Ewalt—All Expected to Show Well at the Coming Meet—A First Cousin of the World's Fastest Horse—The Advantages of the New Half-Mile Track.

Judging from the horses that are now on the grounds, there will be some splendid racing during the Fair. In the new and roomy stalls on the south side of the race track are eight well groomed animals, several of which have records, and all of which are expected to show up well at the coming meet. They are being given the best of care, and no effort will be spared to have each one of them in prime condition.

Trainer Ewalt, one of the most experienced horsemen that ever handled a Kentucky thoroughbred, is enthusiastic over the track and the horses he has in training. A drive to the Fair grounds this morning in company with Dr. J. T. J. Battle, himself an enthusiastic horseman, found Mr. Ewalt and his hostlers busily engaged in caring for the stock.

One of the prettiest horses in the lot is Mr. C. P. Vanstony's little mare, by Simmons. She has no record, but is said to be very fast. Some time ago she was a close second in a 2:14 race.

Mr. A. E. B. Alford's horse is in training for the road races. He is showing up nicely and bids fair to be speedy.

Dr. Battle has two horses—Bill Arp and Perfection, both of which are splendid animals. The former is by King Nutwood and at the races here during Galathea week won a purse in £32. His owner is undecided as to what class he will be put in this year.

Perfection is by Blue Hall, a member of a celebrated Tennessee family, and is a first cousin of Star Pointer, the fastest horse in the world and the only animal that ever lowered the two-minute record. He is developing well and will be heard from.

One of the neatest animals on the grounds is Mr. T. W. Arrasmith's black mare, by Simmons.

Another horse in training for the road traces is Elmer Delmer, owned by Mr. E. A. Holt. She defeated Queen Bess in the matinee races on July 4th, making a half mile in 1:15.

Mattie Holt, owned by Messrs. Garland Daniel and E. A. Holt, is developing nicely. She is by Baronette and has won several races. She has a record of 2:37.

The latest addition to the horses in training is an eight-year-old pacer, owned by Mr. Frank A. Meares, of Asheville. Mr. Meares is here with his horse, which is a well built and splendidly equipped animal. He has won races in the 2:08 class.

By the opening of the Fair a number of other fast horses will be here, several being expected from the Norfolk meeting. Mr. A. E. Woodell, of Danville, will bring four or five.

Both the location and build of the track will add to the beauty of the races. It is believed to be one of the best half-mile tracks in the country. It is perfectly graded, spectators being enabled to witness every movement a horse makes from the beginning to the end of a race. The county's steam road roller was carried out this afternoon and run over the track in order to pack it down and make it smooth and firm.

Another advantage is in the location of the grand stand, which is situated on the west side of the track and in such a position as to give the best possible view of the races.

To the Charitably Inclined.

Moses Turner, an old colored man who does odd jobs of plowing about the city, lost his horse yesterday. Moses is one of the few remaining ante-bellum darkies and the loss falls heavily upon him. He is deserving, and a small gift from anyone to help him replace the loss would be an act of charity.

Mr. W. G. Frasier, of the firm of W. B. Farrar's Son, has artistically ornamented his window with gold plated clocks, thermometers, etc.

THE PRIZE SNAKE STORY.

What Messrs. Smith and Wharton Saw Over in Rockingham.

Rev. Hay Watson Smith and Mr. Lee G. Wharton, who have just returned from a hunting trip over into Rockingham county, tell the biggest snake story of the season. While out hunting a day or two ago they came upon a large king snake which was in the act of backing into a hollow stump. They watched the reptile until the head only was visible, when Mr. Smith fired, severing the head from the body. After the head had fallen to the ground the hunters were surprised to see another snake's tail protruding from the body. The last snake was pulled from the body of the other one, and found to be a black snake. He had been swallowed by his brother king snake evidently some time before.

Both were measured, when it was seen that the black was two and a half inches longer than the king snake. The interesting part of it is to know how the swallowing operation was performed.

COMPLIMENTARY REFERENCES.

Prospective Purchasers Pleased With the History of Greensboro's Bond Issue.

Recently The Telegram's job printing office turned out a complete and concise history of Greensboro's $300,000 bond issue, containing a full account of every step taken in the matter, from the introduction of the bill in the Legislature to the present. Prospective purchasers, for whose benefit and information the pamphlet was published, have spoken in very complimentary terms of the manner in which it was gotten up, several saying it was the nicest thing of the kind they had ever seen.

The work was compiled by Mr. A. M. Seales, city attorney, who had much to do with placing the bonds already so successfully sold.

Complimentary Reference to a Bright Young Man.

This morning's Raleigh News and Observer makes the following complimentary reference to Mr. Melville P. Troy, who is spending some time at his home in this city on a leave of absence from his duties in Havana, Cuba:

"Mr. Melville P. Troy, of the custom house in Havana, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Troy is one of the brightest young men in the State, and has risen from the ranks by force of sheer merit. He entered the service during the Spanish war as a member of the hospital corps, and has been promoted until he has an important and lucrative position in the customs house at Havana. He was formerly city editor of the Greensboro Record, and is now in the State on his first vacation since enlistment."

Mr. Bryant on Mecklenburg's Vote.

Mr. Victor S. Bryant, a prominent lawyer of Durham, passed through the city at noon today, returning home from Charlotte. Like all who take an interest in politics now, he was talking of the coming Senatorial primary. "The statement which went out from Raleigh in a number of newspaper letters this morning, that Simmons would carry Mecklenburg county," said Mr. Bryant, "is altogether incorrect. Mecklenburg is safe for Carr, and will give him a majority of not less than two thousand. That's what his friends there are claiming, and that's what I believe."

He Rose Rapidly.

In speaking of the late Ballard Smith the Louisville Courier-Journal says that when he first sought a position in a newspaper office after graduating from Dartmouth college he entered the sanctum with an air of condescension. He wore a silk tie and a velvet jacket. He said he would like to be dramatic editor, but he was given a place on the local staff. In less than six months he was made city editor. After that his rise in journalism was rapid.

Probably.

"That Baltimore woman who gave her pet monkey a first class funeral must have been greatly attached to the animal."

"Yes; it probably gave her a regular monkey wrench to part with it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

According to the ancient Chinese writers, the chronology of that country goes back 2,267,000 years.

RUSSIANS MASSACRE CHINESE

REPORTED 12,000 WERE MURDERED.

Drove Them Out of Town and Them in Small Batches Ordered Them to Cross a Mile-Wide River, Shooting Those Who Attempted to Land and Sending All of Them to Destruction—A Most Brutal Act.

London, Sept. 20.—Further details received here state that in the massacre of Chinese by Russians at Blagovestchensk, 12,000 persons in all were killed. Not a soul escaped alive.

The Moscow correspondent of the London Standard says that authentic information has been received to the effect that the Russians deliberately murdered 5,000 Chinese in Amur. The Chinese were escorted out of town to a spot five miles up the Amur and then, being led in batches of a few hundreds to the river bank, were ordered to cross the river to the Chinese side. No boats were provided and the river is a mile wide. The Chinese were flung alive into the stream and were stabbed or shot at the least resistance, while Russian volunteers, who lined the bank, clubbed or shot any who attempted to land. Not one escaped alive. The river bank for miles was strewn with corpses.

LI ARRIVED AT TAKU.

Tong Ku, Sept. 19.—Li Hung Chang arrived Tuesday at the Taku anchorage where he was visited by Rear-Admiral Remy with the Russian flag captain who proceeded to Tong Ku today, but received no special honors and attracted little attention. Only the Russian, and the Japanese officers called upon him, but later had a long conference with Admiral Alexieff, on the Russian warship.

RISEING NEAR CANTON.

Paris, Sept. 21.—The French consul at Canton telegraphs under date of yesterday that disorders have broken out in Guntai, near Canton, and several villages have been destroyed and others besieged. The missionaries succeeded in escaping. The first troops sent by the viceroys proved powerless to subdue the disorder and the foreign consul made the most urgent request for the dispatch of a larger body of soldiers. The chancellor of the French consulate and the French gunboat Avaranche will accompany the force.

The Hardest Head Yet.

Cheerful Rastus hobbled painfully into the office of the city physicians, supported by two abbreviated broom handles.

"Well, Rassy, how is the limb today?" inquired one of the young men in charge.

"Tol'ble, tol'ble," replied Rastus, grinning like a new moon.

"Ah tell ye," he said as the dressings were changed, "Ah'ze heard all kin's stories about niggers' halds—how hawd dey is an how presumhus it becomes er white man ter tempt ter break 'em—but lemme tell ye ye doan know about it tel ye runs ag'in de real t'ing. Me an dis feller wuz wo'kin together puttin up a b'iler, an a dissertation ariz between us, an Ah in de 'zuberance of me feelin's kicked wid all me mite. Well, Ah reckoned ter strike him on de haid, an Ah did. 'Deed Ah did! Caught him squar'. He nevah moved—no, sah. But de reaction didn't do er t'ing but break t'ree of me toes, an dat's what Ah'm here fo'—ha, ha, ha! Huh, huh!"

And cheerful Rastus, with the broken toes, laughed hilariously while the physician readjusted the splints.—Detroit Free Press.

Like a Cat on a Wall.

A Scotch highland minister was very fond of commenting on each verse as he read it out. On reading the precept, "Walk circumspectly," he said: "Ye've all seen a cat, my brethren, walking on the top of a wall covered w' broken bottles and bits of glass. See hoo it lifts ae fit and then another fit and hoo slowly and carefully it puts its doon, to keep clear of the sharp bits of glass. And so, my brethren, in this world o' snares and pitfalls, we should be like the cat on the wall—we should walk circumspectly."

Close Resemblance.

Mrs. Talkso's husband was reading an advertisement which asserted that "the mail is quick, the telegrapher is quicker, but the telephone is quickest, and you don't have to wait for an answer."

"Ah," he reflected, "in one particular that reminds me strongly of Mrs. Talkso."—Baltimore American.

HEAR MISS KEARNEY.

A National Lecturer of the W. C. T. U. to be in Greensboro.

Miss Belle Kearney, of Mississippi, a National lecturer of the Womans' Christian Temperance Union, will lecture in Centenary Methodist church next Sunday evening and in West Market Street church next Monday evening. The public is cordially invited to attend these lectures. Miss Kearney is a daughter of the New South, strong in sympathy and noble of purpose, as is intimated by the following from the Norfolk Virginian:

"A remarkable light shone in the lecture room of McKendree last night in the person and address of Miss Belle Kearney, of Mississippi. She can't be duly appreciated without being seen and heard. A large audience enjoyed her pure and clear and forceful plea for temperance. She fairly took wing, and, freighted with truth and eloquence, feasted the delighted audience."

HOW TO BE SAVED.

Evangelist Martin Preaches Another Strong Sermon to a Crowded House.

To a crowded house last night Evangelist Martin preached a simple, plain sermon on the text, Acts 16:30, 31, "Sirs what must I do to be saved? and they said, believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." In part the evangelist said: "The jailer did not ask what he must do to have a reward, for the reward will be according to the way we live, 1 Cor. 3:11, 15; nor to be happy, for it was not a question of being happy, though many think that a happy feeling is the great thing. Where I was raised I've seen people get very happy in revival meetings and yet not pay their just debts the next day, and I've seen others get very happy in revivals by 10 o'clock at night, yet the chickens had to roost mighty high before daylight. No, friends, it was not a question of happiness, but what must I do to be saved? a question of heaven and hell and the answer is simple, plain and clean-cut as a diamond: 'Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved.' Notice, neither church membership, nor baptism, nor eating the Lord's Supper, nor even living a good life is mentioned. Why not? Because without any and all of these one thing saves. Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved. And notice, thou shalt be, not possibly you will be, nor maybe you will be, but thou shalt be. Then, why do these others? Not in order to be saved, but from love because you are saved when once you accept the Savior. Well, says one, I'll accept Him, trust Him to save me and then live as I please in sin. You can't trust Him, friend. That kind of a man will never be saved. God by the Holy Spirit will never let you accept the Savior. But if in honesty of heart you realize that you are lost and justly condemned before God and you turn from your sin and your self-righteousness to God and accept the Savior, God says you shall be saved. Why take any chances?"

Hunting Baboons In South Africa.

The baboons which frequent this rocky country are so destructive to the stock farms that organized raids have to be made upon them. It is useless trying to get a shot at the baboon during the day; he is a wily creature and knows the deadly effects of a rifle just as well as the hunter.

Early in the morning the party leave the farm and quietly surround the kranz, or rock, where the unsuspecting baboons are sleeping. At the first break of dawn the head baboon is on the move, to see that everything is right. He no sooner makes an appearance than he is greeted with a shower of lead. In an instant the whole troop is in an uproar. They rush hither and thither, howling with rage and pain, looking for a place of escape. But few of them succeed. Directly the hunters have retired, the blacks, who have been following up the party, make a rush for the tails of the baboons. Sometimes they are in so great a hurry to secure these that they fail to observe that the baboon is not dead and an ugly bite or tear is the result. The tails are taken to the magistrate's office, where a reward of 2s. 6d. each is paid for them by government.—London Chronicle.

SITUATION IN COAL REGIONS.

STRIKE STEADILY GAINING GROUND.

The Strike is Being Felt in Lines of Work Using Coal—Several Factories Can Work Only a Week or Two Longer—It is Now Planned to Tie Up All Coal-Carrying Railroads in Order to Help the Strikers.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 21.—The West End colliery of Mocaragua is working half its force this morning, and slowly but surely the strikers are closing it down. Since Monday it has been the only colliery of the upper coal field at work and half a dozen organizers have been exercising all their efforts to get them out. Two washeries in Pittston are still working, but one at Luzerne and No. 7 in this city are idle. The strikers at Luzerne have driven men from work three days in succession. They are afraid now to return. The sheriff still refuses to answer the demands of the men for protection as he fears a conflict would ensue. Employees of the New Jersey Central are being laid off and the Wilkesbarre shirt factory has shut down for lack of coal. Several factories will not be able to run longer than a week or two unless they can replenish their stock of coal.

TO TIE UP RAILROADS.

New York, Sept. 21.—A Journal special from Scranton says it is now planned to tie up all the coal carrying railroads in order to aid the strike of anthracite coal miners. Members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen here are deeply interested in the struggle. They have summoned their grandmaster, Hossly, from Galesburg, Ill. He will arrive tomorrow.

TO CONFER WITH ARCHBISHOP.

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—Archbishop Ryan today confirmed the report that Presidents Olyphant and Truesdale had consented to confer with him on the strike, and says now he feels encouraged. Time and place of conference will be determined today.

BEATING MEN GOING TO WORK.

Mahoney City, Sept. 21.—Mob violence has transformed the Shenandoah Valley into a scene of wild disorder. Several hundred foreigners in squads of thirty or more were scattered on the outskirts of the town this morning and intercepted and beat every man they caught going to work.

MITCHELL ASTRAY.

New York, Sept. 21.—It is reported that Mitchell, the President of the United Mine Workers, is in New York now to attend a conference of the coal operators. He is not at Hazleton, and nobody seems to know where he is.

Five Persons Killed in St. Louis.

Oak Ridge Sends Relief to Prof. Ransom.

Today Mr. Lee H. Battle, cashier of the City National Bank, received from Messrs. J. A. and M. H. Holt, of Oak Ridge, a check for $24.25, with the request to forward the amount to Prof. H. H. Ransom, the North Carolinian who suffered so severely by the Galveston storm. The money was raised among the faculty and students of Oak Ridge Institute, where Prof. Ransom was once employed as a teacher.

An Entertainment Course.

The Ladies' Aid Society of West Market Street Methodist church is arranging to give a series of entertainments during the fall and winter. The best talent will be secured and tickets for the entire course will be sold. There will be five entertainments.

The course will be managed by Mr. Frank C. Boyles, who is not without experience in this line. Tickets will be put on sale within the next few days.

WHO MAY VOTE FOR SENATOR?

BILL JONES AND JOHN SMITH SAFE

And When These Worthies Are in. Most Other People Are O. K.—Guilford Claimed For Carr, Davidson For Simmons—Farmer's Rush to Secure Cotton Pickers. Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Raleigh, N. C., September 21.—The following is the text of the resolution, introduced by Maj. E. J. Hale at the meeting this month of the Democratic State Committee, as to who shall be allowed to vote at the Senatorial primary: "Resolved, That the term Democratic voters, in the resolution of the State Convention shall be construed to include all white and Croatan electors who vote in the November election for the Democratic Presidential electors and for the Democratic candidates for Congress, as well as all white and Croatan electors who voted the Democratic ticket last August, and we hereby extend invitation to any voter in North Carolina, not already so entitled, to qualify himself for voting in said Senatorial primary by casting his ballot on that day for the Democratic Presidential and Congressional tickets." Major Hale said this would result in gaining several thousand voters for Bryan and Stevenson.

The fact is that the State Convention said that any one who voted the Democratic ticket at the August election should be eligible, and the committee, to "even-up" things, added that those who voted for Bryan and Stevenson and the Democratic Congressman in November should also be eligible.

For example Bill Jones, populist, voted in August against the Amendment and the Democratic ticket, but in November votes for Bryan and Stevenson and the Democratic nominee for Congress, so he votes in the primary. John Smith, good Democrat, voted in August for the Amendment and for the Democratic State ticket, but does not vote in November for Bryan and Stevenson, so he votes in the primary.

National Democratic Committeeman Josephus Daniels says this is an anomalous situation and prevails nowhere else in the United States. He says the Senatorial primary which he advocated permitted no man to vote in the primary except those who voted the Democratic ticket in August and November, from constable to president. In his opinion it is absurd to permit men to have a voice in selecting a Democratic Senator who did not vote the full Democratic ticket in August, and equally absurd to allow those to participate in the election who do not vote the full Democratic ticket in November.

B. R. Lacy, the State Labor Commissioner, is quite sick at his home here, of asthma.

H. B. Varner, of Lexington, was among the arrivals yesterday.

The grounds of the insane asylum are far more attractive than ever before, all having been sown in blue grass. There are now 410 patients, of whom 38 are at home on leave or furlough. All patients whose condition gives hope of relief are being received. Some pay patients, of the whiskey and morphine classes, are received. There are now about half a dozen of those. The treatment of them has been quite successful. During the summer there was no sickness at the asylum. The water supply is ample. That for general use is pumped from three driven wells by electricity; that for drinking, from a driven well, by steam-power. The oldest patient now in the asylum was admitted in 1858. The asylum was opened July 22, 1856.

Julian S. Carr was here yesterday on his way home from Gastonia, and told his friends he was greatly pleased with the outlook. It is said Guilford county is for Carr, Davidson overwhelmingly for Simmons. It is also said Mecklenburg is for Simmons, and that the latter's native county is almost a unit for him.

A good story is current here of how a sharp Wake county farmer secured cotton pickers. Last Sunday during services at one of the negro churches here, three big wagons stopped in front of the building. As the darkeys were departing at the close of the service, the farmer hired them, they got in the wagons and away they went. The farmers are extremely anxious to get pickers. The fields are white with cotton. With plenty of pickers all could be picked in a fortnight, it seems.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Pou have gone to the mountains to remain a month.

Mr. R. P. Troy, of Greensboro, who is clerk in the custom house at Havana, was here yesterday.

The other day mention was made of an outbreak, and a very fatal one, of splemic fever among a herd of dairy cattle in Edgecomb county. Today the commissioner of agriculture was advised of another outbreak of the same disease in that county. This time 17 cattle are sick, 15 of them having been attacked within five days. The owner asked for the law in regard to the driving of cattle from infected territory into uninfected territory. It would appear to a layman to be dead easy to arrest and punish people who thus driver cattle. A very few such punishments would put a stop to the practice.

The cotton receipts are quite liberal in the local market, though the drop in price to 10 cents worries the farmers. The latter do not understand cotton futures at all. They believe the local dealers make the price. The people who deal in futures declare that the latter are really a relief to the farmers. The receipts this month are 234 bales, against 1082 to this date last year.

St. Mary's Female College has a very successful opening, and it is said the attendance is the largest in its history.

The institution for the white blind and that for negro deaf-mutes and blind opened today, with about 270 present, pretty equally divided between the two races.

Rarity of a Dread of Death.

Sir Lyon Playfair, who represented the University of Edinburgh for 17 years, says Health, naturally came in contact with the most eminent medical men of England, and he put this question to most of them: "Did you, in your extensive practice, ever know a patient who was afraid to die?" With two exceptions, it seems, they answered "No." One of these exceptions was Sir Benjamin Brodie, who said he had seen one case. The other was Sir Robert Christison, who had seen one case, that of a girl of bad character, who had a sudden accident.

MR. SIMMONS NOT A ROMANIST.

There is an Attempt to Turn the J. O. U. A. M. Against Him on the False Charges Relating to His Religion—It Will Fail.

To the Editor of The Telegram:

I am not a politician, and do not write as such, but my sense of justice will not allow me to remain silent when I see a good citizen done a wrong. The rumor has come to me a number of times that Mr. Simmons, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, was a Roman Catholic, and that an effort was being made to cast the vote of the J. O. U. A. M. against him in the Senatorial contest. The J. O. U. A. M. have little sympathy with Catholicism. I would not vote for a Romanist for office and would not advise anyone to do so. This is the attitude of most members of the order. The order stands against the Romanists, not because of their religious belief, but because of their efforts to gain control of politics and thus direct legislation for Romanist interests and institutions. I have made inquiries as to the rumors and find that Mr. Simmons has no church connection, but was educated at Trinity College, which would indicate that there was nothing of Romanism in his education. Any effort, therefore, to control the votes of the J. O. U. A. M. on this charge is an injustice to the order and a great wrong to Mr. Simmons. I think the interest manifested by Mr. Simmons in our public schools, would indicate that he was not even tainted with Romanism. His efforts to faster and advance the public school interests in the last campaign and his influence for them in the last Legislature should draw to him the support of every lover of a public school system. I know the members of the J. O. U. A. M. of the State. They are men of character and will repudiate a wrong against any one. The J. O. U. A. M. is not a political order. The noble objects of our organization are "paramount to any partisan relation," and any effort to array the membership of the order for or against men of character on false charges will meet with righteous rebuke from the loyal Juniors all over the State. I am proud of being a Junior, and while speaking only for myself, I believe the effort to put the J. O. U. A. M. against Mr. Simmons on a false charge will be repudiated by the order throughout the State.

Yours sincerely,
CHAS. A. G. THOMAS.

GREAT ELECTRICAL TRUST.

It is the Biggest of All—Telephone and Telephone Companies to be Consolidated.

New York, Sept. 20.—In its forthcoming issue, The Electrical Review will editorially publish this:

"There have been numerous reports of late concerning the probable amalgamation of all the telephone and telegraph companies of the United States. The Electrical Review was recently informed that rapid progress was being made in this direction by the financial interests controlling the four leading companies. These are the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which now includes the American Bell Telephone Company, the Telephone Telegraph and Cable Company of America, the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company.

"It is predicted by those in position to know that these interests will be consolidated into one big company, to be known as the National Telephone and Telegraph Company, and that such consolidation will be accomplished before the end of the present year.

Dr. Peacock One of the Youngest.

Roxboro Couriers.

The Greensboro Telegram of Saturday afternoon had an interesting historical sketch of the Greensboro Female College, the second female college chartered south of the Potomac. It is gratifying to know that this college under the management of Prof. Dr. Peacock, one of the youngest college professors in the South, is succeeding better than at any time in its history.

"What put you on the wrong path?" inquired the prison visitor.

"Hitting the wrong keys," responded the convict.

"It isn't possible that you were a piano player?"

"No! I was a cash-register player. Always hit the one dollar key when I took in an X or a V."

A CHINESE FERRY.

In Crossing Much Trouble and Frequent Accidents Are Encountered.

Ferries in China are numerous, and so are the heavy carts to be ferried. The spectacle of a crossing is full of surprises, says Rev. Arthur H. Smith in "Village Life in China." To get one of the clumsy carts down the steep and shelving incline to the river requires considerable engineering skill, and accidents are not infrequent. When the edge of the ferry is reached the whole team must be unhitched, and each animal got on board as best it can be.

Some animals make no trouble, and will give a mighty bound, landing somewhere or everywhere, to the imminent peril of any passengers on board. When an animal refuses to budge—an occurrence at almost every crossing—its head is bandaged and it is led around and around for a long time, so as to induce it to forget all about the ferryboat.

At last it is led to the edge and urged to jump, which it will by no means do. Then the drivers twist its tail, put a stick behind it as a lever, and get six men at each end of the stick, while six more tug at ropes which are attached to the animal's horns.

After a struggle, often lasting half an hour, and frequently after prolonged and cruel beatings, the poor beasts are all on board, where the more excitable prance about among and over the human passengers.

Next comes the moving of the heavy cart, which must be dragged on to the ferryboat by the strength of a small army of men.

On the farther bank another exciting struggle occurs. The exit of the cart and animals is impeded by the struggles of those who are eager to cross to the other shore, and cannot be content to wait until the boat is unloaded. Order is unknown, and it is a wonder that people are not frequently killed in these tumultuous crossings.

MAYFLOWERS ON CAPE COD.

Many People Kept Busy in Gathering the Wax Like Blossoms in the Spring.

At Cape Cod, and not far from where former President Cleveland has his famous summer home at Buzzard's Bay, the inhabitants have an odd occupation, says the Providence Journal. When the first fragrant buds of the trailing arbutus or May flower appear on the hill-sides of the big cape the woods are fairly alive with men, women and children, all in search of the delicate flowers. They are not out collecting because they are charmed with the early blossoms, nor do they wander through the woods plucking wild blossoms for their health. Their industry is strictly commercial, for the May flower is a favorite in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other large cities of the east, and every spring the woods are stripped of them and they are packed in moss and shipped to town, where they are sold at high prices.

So regular is the demand for the dainty waxlike blossoms that professional flower hunters make a business of searching out the secret blooming grounds of the arbutus, stake out their claims as they would take up mining claims every spring, and wait for the blossom harvest. Gathering May flowers has become one of the important industries of Cape Cod.

SAGACITY BROUGHT FAT FEE.

The Wise Young Surgeon Did Not Laugh at His Patient's Imaginary Ailment.

It is well known in medical science that imagination plays an important part, both in ailment and cure, says the Philadelphia Record. One of Philadelphia's most successful young surgeons recently demonstrated this in a rather ridiculous manner. The president of a local financial institution has for some time been laboring under the delusion that hair was growing in his throat. He visited doctor after doctor, and they all laughed at him. "The thing is preposterous," they said, after careful examination. But still the man insisted that they were wrong and worked himself into a condition bordering on nervous prostration. Finally he went to the young surgeon in question, who at once decided upon a plan of action. "I'll fix you all right in a jiffy," he said. Then he went into an ante-room, snipped a couple of hairs from his wrist and fastened them to the end of an instrument. Returning to the patient, he inserted the instrument down the man's throat, gave a little jab and pulled it out again. There were the hairs, sure enough. It was a stroke of genius, for the man with an imaginary complaint at once resumed his normal condition and the young surgeon was rewarded with a fat fee.

General Cronje's Wardrobe.

Julian Ralph says that when Gen. Cronje was brought into the British camp all his belongings were in a sack. His wife's wardrobe was in a pillowcase, and the chief article in Frau Cronje's pillowcase proved to be a silk dress commandeered from Lady Sarah Wilson.

Influenza in Great Britain.

British statisticians are reckoning up what Great Britain owes to the scourge of influenza. There have been two serious epidemics of influenza there in the past ten years, one in the winter of 1891-92, when the amount of property paying death duties advanced $150,000,000 above the average, and again in the past winter, when the increase was about $140,000,000 over the previous year. The fact that influenza was almost the sole cause of the increase is shown in elaborate statistical tables.

Beauty In and Behind Glasses

Some glasses may be disfiguring. Clothes may be ill-fitting or becoming—it depends upon who fits them and how. "Do they fit?"—is a question often asked, regarding shoes or clothes, but not always thought of in connection with eye-glasses. You can wear cheap, untidy clothes and injure your reputation only. You wear cheap ill-fitting glasses only at the risk of injuring your eyesight. An ill-fitting shoe makes itself known by pain. Poor eyeglasses give no warning until the harm is done. Everybody reads, but all do not read understandingly. Almost any one can fit you with glasses, but will you be "fitted" after he has "fitted" you? We can assist in prolonging your eyes' usefulness and good vision.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity.

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

A TRIUMPH FOR THE SOHMER.

A PLEASANT GATHERING AT THE HOME OF MRS. VAN Noppen TO TEST A BABY GRAND PIANO.

There was a pleasant gathering of the Euterpe Club and its friends at the home of its president, Mrs. Chas. L. Van Noppen, last night for the purpose of testing and passing judgment upon the merits of a new Sohmer Baby Grand piano. All were particularly impressed with the beauty of the instrument and the brilliancy and sweetness of its tone. In fact, it responded to every vagaries of the player's will, with not a single adverse criticism, although the best musicians of our city were present for the purpose of finding fault, if possible.

Mr. Van Noppen purchased it as a present to his accomplished wife, on condition that it should stand all tests satisfactorily. So this morning Mr. John B. Wright, the agent for the Sohmer, was given a check in full. It is a triumph for the Sohmer, which is undoubtedly one of the finest instruments on the market, and Mrs. Van Noppen is to be congratulated.

GUILFORD TEAM GETTING READY.

They Will Take a Rub With the A. & M. During Fair Week—Miss Blair Goes to Bryn Mawr and Mr. Cowles to Johns Hopkins.

Correspondence of The Telegram.

Guilford College, Sept. 21.—A reception was given in the young women's parlor at Founders Hall last night by Misses Hackney and Osborn, to Miss Annie Blair and Mr. Calvin Cowles, both of whom were members of last spring's graduating class. About two dozen guests were present. Miss Annie Blair leaves in a few days for Bryn Mawr College, where she will be a student the coming year. The scholarship of $400 awarded by that institution to a young woman graduate of Guilford each year was last May awarded to Miss Blair. She is a strong student and a worthy representative of the College.

Mr. Cowles will also leave for the North in a few days. He will enter the graduate department of Johns Hopkins University as a student of medicine.

An exhibition game of football was played on the grounds last evening. The College eleven fought a stubborn battle with the "scrubs" for an hour, neither side being able to score. The team is getting ready for Fair week, when the A. & M. boys are to come over with a rush.

Students still continue to arrive. Near a dozen new ones have come this week.

Mr. Daniels, a fierce football player of last year's team, arrived Wednesday from Philadelphia.

As Countless as the Sands of the Seashore.

Asheville Citizen.

We find this in the Greensboro correspondence of the Charlotte Observer and reprint it as an addition to the literature of the campaign:

"A Greensboro gentleman who enjoys a wide reputation for ready wit, has discovered the origin of the Populist party. He says the first reference to this class is made in 1 Samuel 22:2, 'And every one that was in distress, and every one that was in debt, and every one that was discontented, gathered themselves unto him, and he became a captain over them, and there were with him about four hundred men.'"

In this day and time, if all who are in debt were to assemble at one spot, they would be as countless as the sands of the seashore."

Haven't Taken On.

Wilmington Messenger.

There are eleven southern states that have not as yet caught on to the idea of compulsory education, and some have not embraced that northern darling, mixed schools, in the young women and men commingling and courting.

Life is not dated merely by years. Events are sometimes the best calendar. There are epochs in our existence which cannot be ascertained by a formal appeal to the registry.—Beaconsfield.

Singular Form of Language.

Probably the queerest form of language is that employed by the natives of the Cameroons, by means of which they are enabled to send messages quickly from one village to another. It is what may be called the "drum" language. A peculiarly shaped drum is used, the surface of the head being divided into unequal parts. In this way the instrument is made to yield two distinctive notes. By varying the intervals between the notes a complete code of signals for every syllable in the language is produced.

The Thousands and Millions.

Bishop Brindle, in his lecture at Sheffield on his experiences in warfare, told some interesting stories, among them that of a young soldier on the weary march to the Aitara.

"I say, Bill," he remarked to an old comrade, "just fancy how many thousands there are who don't know where we are!"

To which the more seasoned warrior replied: "Ah! Just fancy how many millions there are who don't care a damn!"—London Chronicle.

MILLIONS GIVEN AWAY.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine, and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs are surely cured by it. Call on C. E. Holton, druggist, and get a trial bottle free. Regular size 50 and $1. Every bottle guaranteed or price refunded.

FANCY FIGUREHEADS

Are No Longer in Vogue Among Shipbuilders.

Less Decoration Outside and More Inside Than Formerly—Old Carvers Driven Out of Business by the Change.

The days of the fancy figureheads on ships are almost forgotten in this age of plain bowed five and six masted. There was a time when a ship without a fancy bowpiece was the exception; now the reverse is the case. The appearance in a Maine harbor of one of these old specimens of the artistic era in Maine shipbuilding would be hailed with enthusiasm by the veteran shipmasters and by the younger generation of sailors would be regarded with wonder. It would, at all events, be a curiosity to the occasional waterfront visitors.

In the shiploft of Edward S. Griffen, No. 465 Fore street, says the Portland (Me.) Express, may be seen implements, long since idle and rusting, of the ship carver's trade. "Yes," said Mr. Griffen, as he soliloquized over the lost industry, "the ship carver's occupation is gone. In the old days the ship sailing into port without a figurehead at the bow was like an unpolished shoe. It was all the fad and entered into the plans for a vessel about as much as the hull or rigging. It gave a finished appearance to the craft which we don't see in these days and was not an expensive addition, either."

"I believe I am the only one of the old carvers now in the business. I started over 40 years ago. The only work in the ship carving line of late is confined to repairing, principally in cabin work. I remember the elder Nahum Littlefield and Edward Chapman were in the business nearly 50 years ago on Central wharf. Mr. Littlefield was succeeded by his son Nahum, formerly chief engineer of the fire department, who continued the business under the firm name of Nahum Littlefield & Brother, but when the demand for this work disappeared they retired. Theodore Johnson was also in the business on Union street, but he, too, gave it up when the decline in the ship carver's trade set in."

"The designs for bow and stern adornments were varied. Busts and full length figures were considerably in demand, although the dragon was a popular bowpiece. Those that didn't have a figure on the bow usually had what we called a billet head with carved trail boards. In such a case there was usually on the stern some fancy carved molding intertwined with small figures. There were quite a number of busts and full length figures and spreadeagles both on bow and stern. The reclining figure of a woman was also in much demand. For instance, if a ship was named for a woman it was probable that a bust or full length figure of a woman would be used as a figurehead."

"In some cases the bust or full length figure of a man would be used if the vessel had been named for some well known citizen. I remember the old ship William G. Davis had a bust of him in the stern moulding. I believe the ship Philena, owned by J. S. Winslow, had a full length figure of Mrs. Winslow. The Philena was a handsome ship, but was lost many years ago. The ship Alice Cooper, built at Knightville by ex-Mayor Randall's father, had one of the handsomest figures of any of the vessels coming into the harbor. It was the full length figure of a woman. In my time I did considerable work for vessels built by J. S. Winslow and Russell Lewis. The business began to decline when the profits in vessels commenced to disappear. The carving of figureheads grew to be looked upon as unnecessary, although the expense of such an adornment usually ran from $100 to $300. The first decline began with the demand for lighter and less expensive mouldings, until finally the fad or custom dropped out entirely. As a substitute common rope came into use. A coil of rope with a knot in the center was at first used, but now not even this is seen on one-half the vessels. The eye for the artistic in ship building seems to have been blinded in these later days by purely financial motives."

"Many vessels of the present time have head and trail boards on the bow, and some have the scroll head. Some have a fancy quarter board on the side for the vessel's name. Fancy carving on the interior and exterior of the cabin, with a trussed knee on the forward of the cabin, are somewhat in use now. But all the inside and outside cabin decoration can never take the place, from an artistic view, of the handsome figurehead of the old days. The old business is gone," said Mr. Griffen, "and I do not expect to live to see its revival."

Mr. Griffen explained that the figureheads formerly in use were usually made of hard pine and were carved by hand.

RHEUMATISM—CATARRH—DISEASES CURED BY B. B. B.

It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments, doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated air, blood purifiers, have failed to do, B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the bones, joints, mucous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure and so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Bs.

For sale by druggists and Howard Gardner, in Greensboro, at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other ailments. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

WINE OF CARDUI

How a Woman Suffers.

I will always praise Wine of Cardui. It has done me more good than all the medicines I have ever taken in my life. Please send a book about female diseases to the ladies whose names I enclose.

Mrs. MINNIE STODGHILL.

Wine of Cardui

It isn't necessary for a woman to give particulars. When she says she has "female troubles", other women know what that means. It means days and nights of endless suffering. It means headaches which no tongue can describe. It means that terrible bearing and dragging down in the lower abdomen. It means agonizing backache, and shoulder ache, and arm ache, and aches in the lower limbs. It means nerves on edge—the blues—despondency and loss of hope. It means debilitating drains that the doctors call leucorrhoea. It means martyrdom—sometimes even death seems preferable. And still Wine of Cardui will utterly put those diseases and pains to rout. It has cured thousands of cases when nothing else on earth would. To the budding woman, to the bride, to the wife, to the expectant mother, to those going through the Change of Life, this Vegetable Wine is a blessing.

Victim of an Awful Calamity.

"It came out, as I journeyed on horseback through Dakota, that almost every settler's land was under mortgage," said a westerner, "and one day, when I came upon a pioneer seated on the grass by the roadside, with a troubled look on his face, I asked him if it was the mortgage he was worrying about."

"Wuss than that, stranger," he replied as he looked up wearily.

"Sickness or death in the family?"

"Wuss than that."

"Then it must be a calamity indeed. You didn't lose family and home by a prairie fire?"

"Nope, but you are right about its being a calamity. I've been tryin to think of that word for two hours past. Yes, sir, you can put it down as an awful calamity."

"But won't you explain?" I persisted.

"I will, sir. Thar was a mortgage on the claim, and I was feelin as big as any of my neighbors and takin things easy when my wife was left $600. Stranger, dare I tell you what she did with that money?"

"She didn't lose it?"

"No, sir. She jest paid that mortgage, bought two horses and a plow, and this mornin I was bounced out of my own cabin becase I wouldn't peel off my coat and go to work! Yes, sir, you are right. It's a calamity--a calamity that's landed me on the outside--and between my durned pride and her blamed spunk somebody'll be eatin grass afore Saturday night!"--Washington Post.

Burns and Tam Samson.

Tam Samson was a gray haired veteran sportsman, who on one occasion, when out moorfowl shooting and feeling the weight of years begin to press upon him, expressed the belief that the expedition was to be his last and desired, in somewhat tragic style, that he might die and be buried in the moors.

Burns, hearing of this, immediately composed his famous elegy, in which he related at length the exploits and skill of his hero, ending each verse with the plaintive line, "Tam Samson's dead."

Some one having told Samson that Burns had written a poem--"a gay queer one"--about him, he sent for the poet and in something like wrath asked him to read what he had written. On hearing the recital of his exploits he smiled grimly and seemed by no means displeased. "But," he exclaimed, "I'm no' dead yet, Robin. Wherefore should ye say that I'm dead?" Burns retired for a few minutes; then he returned and recited to Tam the following verse, which he had composed in the interval:

PER CONTRA.

Go, Fame, an canter like a filly
Through a' the streets an neuks of Killie;
Tell ev'ry social, honest bilbie
To cease his grievin.

For yet, unskait'h'd by Death's gleg gullie,
Tam Samson's livin!
Samson laughed gleefully and exclaimed, "That's no' bad, Robin; that'll do," and the poet was received once more into his good graces.--Chambers' Journal.

More Suitable.

"I object to the personification of time in the guise of man," said Tenspot.

"Why?" asked Whiffett.

"So inappropriate. It should be a woman."

"Why?"

"You know the old proverb says, 'Time will tell.'--Detroit Free Press.

Had Tried It.

"Did you ever experiment with the Kneipp cure?" asked one of the inmates of the convalescent ward at the hospital.

"Only for poverty," answered the other, a large, freckle faced woman. "I always went barefoot when we lived on the farm."--Chicago Tribune.

VIOLIN AND SONG.

He'd nothing but his violin,
I'd nothing but my song.
But we were wed when skies were blue
And summer days were long.
And when we rested by the hedge
The robins came and told
How they had dared to woo and win
When early spring was cold.
We sometimes supped on dewberries
Or slept among the hay,
But oft the farmers' wives at eve
Came out to hear us play
The rare old tunes, the dear old tunes;
We could not starve for long,
While my man had his violin
And I my sweet love song.

The world has aye gone well with us,
Old man, since we were one;
Our homeless wandering down the lanes,
It long ago was done.
But those who wait for gold or gear,
For houses and for kine,
Till youth's sweet spring grows brown and
And love and beauty time
Will never know the joy of hearts
That met without a fear
When you had but your violin
And I a song, my dear.

A FALSE ALARM.

It Came at a Most Inopportune Time
For the Pretty Angler.

"And it all came from a little, petty, miserable, insignificant, nickel plated alarm clock that cost me just 69 cents at a bargain sale!" exclaimed the pretty girl in blue, with flashing eyes, to her sympathetic friend. "I haven't the slightest idea why I bought it unless it was because it was so cheap, for goodness knows I didn't need it! But buy it I did and carried it home, where I bragged of my bargain all the rest of the day. It wouldn't run more than half the time, and finally I turned it over to my little sister to play with."

"You know the time I have had with that eligible young man and how I have quarreled with every girl friend I know who has dared to look at him? But you don't know how many nights I have wasted sitting up planning a campaign that would be successful!"

"Well, he called the other evening, and I served notice on the rest of the family that we wanted the drawing room to ourselves that evening, for I felt sure that the supreme moment had arrived. I wasn't disappointed. We were sitting side by side on a divan, quite by accident, looking at some engravings when he began, and I tried to look as if I was awfully surprised. But he hadn't spoken more than three words before that miserable alarm clock went off right under us, where my little sister had left it when she was through playing with it."

"From the way the young man jumped you would have thought that he was a part of the alarm and always acted that way when the alarm was sprung. He made for the door, mumbling something that I didn't catch on account of the noise that the alarm made, and he was outdoors before the din ceased and gave me a chance to collect my wits. And to think that it was all caused by a little, miserable, petty!"

The pretty girl in blue gave it up and burst out crying.--Detroit Free Press.

Not His Fault.

"Why, Johnny, how much you look like your father!" remarked a visitor to a small 4-year-old.

"Yes'm," answered Johnny, with an air of resignation, "that's what everybody says, but I can't help it."--New Orleans Picayune.

CATARRH

Catarrh has become such a common disease that a person entirely free from this disgusting complaint is seldom met with. It is customary to speak of Catarrh as nothing more serious than a bad cold, a simple inflammation of the nose and throat. It is, in fact, a complicated and very dangerous disease; if not at first, it very soon becomes so.

The blood is quickly contaminated by the foul secretions, and the poison through the general circulation is carried to all parts of the system.

Salves, washes and sprays are unsatisfactory and disappointing, because they do not reach the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. does. It cleanses the blood of the poison and eliminates from the system all catarrhal secretions, and thus cures thoroughly and permanently the worst cases.

Mr. P. H. McAllister, of Harrodsburg, Ky., writes: "Having been a terrible sufferer from Catarrh, and being now sound and well, the question often put to me is, 'What cured you?' In answer I feel it my duty to state that Swift's Specific is the medicine. I am such a true believer in the efficacy of Swift's Specific that I can honestly and conscientiously recommend it to any one suffering from Catarrh. Have recommended it to many, and am happy to say that those whom I have induced to use it can bear me out in the statement that it will cure any case of Catarrh if taken according to directions."

SSS is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known, and the greatest of all blood medicines and tonics.

If you have Catarrh don't wait until it becomes deep-seated and chronic, but begin at once the use of S. S. S., and send for our book on blood and skin diseases, and write our physicians about your case.

BRAVE MEN FALL.

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents at C. E. Holton's drug store. Every bottle guaranteed.

CURRENT EVENTS.

Happenings in Greensboro Town Today—Gossip and Facts.

In the Police Court yesterday afternoon George Rone, colored, was fined $5 and costs for creating a disturbance on North Davis street.

Hungry thieves last night made a raid on Mrs. S. R. Ellis' pantry, stealing a quantity of provisions. This is the second visitation within the past few weeks.

Miss Belle Kearney, of Mississippi, who lectures here Sunday and Monday evenings in behalf of the W. C. T. U., speaks at Guilford College tomorrow night.

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. J. Battle will not take rooms at Mr. Lee H. Battle's, as was reported in The Telegram some days ago. They will remain at Dr. George A. Mebane's, on West Washington street.

Mr. T. L. Brown's furniture and other household effects were shipped to Asheville, his new home, today. He will remain in Greensboro until Sunday, where he will be joined by wife and children on their return from a visit to Grand Rapids, Mich.

Fatal Brevity.

There is a little settlement of New Hampshire people in Kiowa county, Colo. Among other things they brought with them the New Hampshire aversion to using any more words in conversation than are absolutely necessary. Two of them met on the road recently and indulged in the following dialogue:

"Mornin, Si."
"Mornin, Josh."
"What'd you give your horse for bots?"

"Turpentine."
"Mornin."
"Mornin."

A few days later the men met again, and here's the way a hard luck story was told in mighty few words:

"Mornin, Si!"
"Mornin, Josh!"
"What'd you say you gave your horse for bots?"
"Turpentine."
"Killed mine."
"Mine too."
"Mornin?"
"Mornin!"

From a Wife's Diary.

Ah, me!
Yesterday my husband exclaimed "Parbleu!" at golf.
This evening he has just exclaimed "Hoot, mon!" at my fete champetre.
How humiliating to be married to such a clod of a man, with no soul, none of the finer sensibilities!—Detroit Journal.

Thought It Was a Proposal.

Scene, cab stand near London. Lady, distributing tracts, hands one to cabby, who glances at it, hands it back and says politely, "Thank you, lady, but I'm a married man." Lady nervously looks at the title and, reading "Abide with me," hurriedly departs, to the great amusement of cabby.—Spare Moments.

The men-of-war of the Romans had a crew of about 225 men, of which 174 were oarsmen working on three decks. The speed of these vessels was about six miles an hour in fair weather.

THE CENTRAL CAROLINA FAIR: Do you wish to make an exhibit at our Fair October 9-12? If so, write Col. W. H. Osborne, Greensboro, N. C., or see R. S. Petty, at M. G. Newell & Co., or W. H. Rees at Rankin, Chisholm, Stroud & Rees's.

These gentlemen compose the committee on exhibits and floor space. The diagrams are ready and every one who intends to make an exhibit should select their space at once.

It's the Central Carolina Fair Association meet, and the date is October 9-13. Come and help us to swell the occasion.

This Central Carolina Fair to be held in Greensboro, N. C. October 9-12 has the happy appearance of being one of the best conducted associations of its day.

Its bound to be well conducted—people with push, brains, and money are behind it.

High class attractions: Fast racing cattle, poultry fine stock, the latest improved farming implements and the products of our thrifty farmers will be an evidence of what the Central Carolina people can do. Come and be with us. We will see that you have kind treatment and good accommodations.

The Main Essential.

Hodown—I understand your wife insisted on drawing the plans herself for your new house.

Jigsup—Yes, she's busy over there now.

Hodown—Oh, I thought she had finished. She told my wife she had all the closets laid out.

Jigsup—Yes, but now she's got to put the rest of the house around them.—Philadelphia Press.

The Evolution in Literature.

Jones—A few years ago boys read Indian stories, got false ideas of life, and then ran away from home to fight redskins. This is all changed now.

Smith—Yes; now they read the monthly magazines, and when they run away from home they go to the city to marry the girl in the corset advertisement.—Judge.

HONEST ADS THE BEST

Persons in certain occupations foster the fallacy that it detracts from their dignity to invite custom by newspaper advertisements. Yet a New York lawyer recently said that many members of the bar in that city who do not advertise have their agents about the courts and prisons to solicit patronage; and there are dentists who employ "pullers-in," doctors who maintain carriages which they do not need in order to appear busy, and the like. Whether advertising is dignified depends on its character. A frank newspaper announcement is more honorable and more becoming than many other methods of getting business which are frequently employed.
